INTRODUCING THE GLEN SCOTIA 'ICONS OF CAMPBELTOWN' SERIES

A celebration of The Campbeltown market cross – a community meeting point for storytelling – each release in this annual five part series takes its inspiration from the series of saints and beasts carved into the cross' face. On the left arm of the cross, Saint Michael backed by an army of supporters heroically slays a fire breathing dragon with his spear. Glen Scotia has partnered with celebrated artist, Joel Holtzman (Lucasfilm, Marvel, Disney, Macmillan) to bring each icon to life, while our Master Blender has selected and crafted a whisky fitting of each tale.

MEDIUM PEATED BAROLO RED WINE CASK FINISH

Distillery fires were not an uncommon occurrence in Campbeltown's Victorian whisky making heyday, claiming a number of our town's distilleries just as dragons of children's tales devastated villages and castles. However hard times certainly have a way of pulling our distilling community together, much like on December 17th, 1899 when Glen Scotia along with heroic community members fought a fierce blaze at Dalintober distillery and saved it from an early fate. You'll find no living saints or dragon slayers in Campbeltown, just a community who endures against the odds by virtue of its prevailing spirit of unity.

TASTING NOTES

As silky as dragon's fire and as bold as our community spirit. Decadently smoky with hints of fiery red candied fruits and berries, the finish is long with a dry spicy end note. A subtle maritime salinity leaves no question which distillery this limited edition hails from.
