At Teeling Whiskey we believe in driving the evolution of Irish Whiskey through the creation of unconventional and unique expressions. Our Wonders of Wood series is part of this innovative mission as we strive to push the boundaries of flavour by using unique styles of wood for maturation.

Wood is an amazing sustainable and environmentally friendly material that has a huge impact on the flavour of whiskey as it matures. We are truly in wonder of the role wood has in crafting whiskey as well as its impact on the wider environment. Our goal with this series of innovative bottlings of Teeling Whiskey is to do our part in helping the replanting of our native forests. We have partnered with the Tree Council of Ireland, which will see each release in the Wonders of Wood series plant an acre of native Irish Trees in Ireland.

Following on from the success of our first three releases, which have all been recognised on the global award stage, the Fourth Edition of our Single Pot Still crafted from a recipe of 50% malted barley and 50% unmalted barley, which has been triple distilled in our Dublin distillery and fully matured in Virgin Carpathian Oak casks. Sourced from the vast and ancient forests of the Carpathian Mountains, this rare oak is known for its tight grain and rich tannins, which impart deep, complex flavors. When used for whiskey maturation, it produces a distinctive spiciness, sandalwood and fruit character unique to Irish Whiskey.
